Rebuilding America

From Within the Private Sector

All commerce arises from the fulfillment of the need to eat. Enjoying food is the backbone of civilization, and a civilization that made any sense would naturally create a food generating economy that served the highest health of all who need it and of Nature providing it. Many if not most things in our world today do not make sense, EweGrow, however, makes sense. EweGrow turns the tables on stupidity or malice wherever it exists and stakes a claim on a future that empowers right action to repair our land, our food, our peace, our security and our prosperity.

EweGrow forms a private organization open to people of our private sector, small businesses, and families, to see results that make real sense and create prosperity. It helps members become economically empowered to do business privately together and in the public domain with nonmembers. Through the EweGrow structure, members will be able to add dozens, then hundreds, thousands, and one day millions of small-scale food producers, including supportive services and businesses.

This singular call to action creates economic stability while reducing our wasteful energetic footprint, it uplifts health with food untainted by chemicals and toxins. EweGrow provides markets, online and through events centered around the marvelous results of American attention to quality food, quality goods and quality health. To repair our land, our food, our peace, our security and our prosperity, private Americans will support one another, accomplishing the work that is sorely needed, and never accomplished yet.

Instrumental to creating an alliance of the private sector taking management of a clean and healthy food supply that everyone can afford, is the establishment of a members-only token to use in internal commerce. The rules of this token will generate a more just and trustworthy currency that members will use for tax free exchanges, and to gradually reclaim the power of the purse for We, the People of the private sector.

The partners of EweGrow are passionate and excited to bring EweGrow to fruition. The EweGrow partnership is wholly dedicated to the Good of All, and to bring inclusivity of members' input and needs. Funding stakeholders will help a fundamental shift begin, wherein We the People, take economic charge of a future that serves wellbeing and peace.
